

The Exalted Gurus

from Milarepa's "Confrontation with some academics" translated by Scott Wellenbach

C                      C/B                      F                      G7

The ex - alt - ed gu - rus of this sim - ple man take my pure Vaj - ra - dha - ra en - dowed with a wis - dom bod - y, and Ti -
 If you know how to look with the eye of de - vo - tion, Vaj - ra -

C                      C/B                      Dmin7                      G7                      Emin                      G/D bod - y as their bud - dha - fields. Their li - on thrones are my lo pa with six clair - voy - an - ces. Na - ro - pa, who casts the net of dha - ra and you are not two. If you know how to sup - pli - cate with

D                      G                      C                      G pure pra - nas five; Five lo - tus seats my na - dis, and their ma - gic dis - play, to - ge - ther with Lord Mar - pa, of in - faith and res - pect, from cloud - banks of com - pas - sion a sweet

C                      G                      Amin7                      D7                      C                      D7 sun - moon seats are my five el - e - ments pure. Emp - ty com - p'ra - ble kind - ness, all crown my head. Emp - ty rain of ad - dhi - sta - na ev - er will fall. If you

G                      G/F#                      C                      D7 mind - as - such is the form of gu - rus, and the mind - as - such is the form of gu - rus, and the know how to make off - ring with your prac - tice, the en -

C                      G/B                      C                      D7                      G                      G emp - ty forms of gu - rus ev - er a - dorn my head.

 emp - ty forms of gu - rus ev - er a - dorn my head.
 ti - re trea - sur - y of sid - dhi will be re - - - - vealed.

text adapted and set to music by Binny Clark